

A Seasonal Maintenance Worker for a city water department typically performs tasks to support the operation, maintenance, and repair of water distribution and treatment systems during peak seasons (often spring/summer). Here's a breakdown of job descriptions and responsibilities:

Key Responsibilities

- Maintenance and Repair: Assist in maintaining water mains, hydrants, valves, and meters. Perform tasks like flushing hydrants, repairing leaks, or cleaning water system components.
- Inspection: Inspect water infrastructure for issues like leaks, corrosion, or damage. May include reading meters or monitoring water quality.
- Groundskeeping: Maintain facilities, such as mowing lawns, clearing debris, or painting at water treatment plants or pump stations.
- Equipment Operation: Use hand tools, power tools, or light machinery (e.g., mowers, pumps) for maintenance tasks.
- Support: Assist full-time staff with tasks like digging trenches, or installing pipes.
- Record-Keeping: Log work performed, such as maintenance activities or meter readings.

Qualifications and Requirements

- Education: High school diploma or equivalent is often sufficient.
- Skills: Basic mechanical aptitude, ability to follow instructions, and physical stamina for outdoor work in various weather conditions.
- Experience: Prior experience in maintenance, construction, or plumbing is a plus but not always required.
- Physical Requirements: Ability to lift heavy objects (e.g., 50+ lbs), stand for long periods, and perform manual labor.
- Licenses: Valid driver's license is often required.
- Age: Some positions require candidates to be 18+ due to equipment use or safety regulations.

Work Environment

- Seasonal Nature: Typically temporary, lasting 3–6 months (e.g., April–October), depending on the city's needs.
- Hours: 40 Hours per week, but for a limited time frame.
- Conditions: Outdoor work in varying weather (heat, rain, etc.), with potential exposure to chemicals or confined spaces.

Pay and Benefits

- Wage: Varies by location but typically $15/hour, based on recent job postings for similar roles.
- Benefits: Seasonal roles rarely include full benefits like health insurance, but some provide paid holidays or sick leave for the duration of employment.
